

Drilling confirms three lines of quartz reef at Tandarra

STAWELL - Victorian gold explorer, Navarre Minerals has confirmed the strike extension of three lines of quartz reef structures using air-core drilling at its Tandarra prospect.

Navarre has completed an 18 hole air-core drilling program at the Bendigo North Project which had a 90% hit rate targeting three shallow, parallel north-south trending lines of quartz veins, typical of Victoria anticlinal-controlled quartz-hosted mineral deposits, over a 900 metre strike length.

These structures are interpreted to be extensions of the gold-bearing quartz lodes identified by drilling in May of this year. A highlight of the previous drilling program was a weighted average 10 metre intercept of gold assaying 34.4 grams per tonne within an assay range of 17.9 to 44.3 grams per tonne starting at a shallow depth of 37 metres below surface (ASX announcement on June 3, 2011).

Navarre Minerals Managing Director, Geoff McDermott, said three potential anticlinal-hosted lodes, or 'tunnels of quartz', had been identified so far, named the Macnaughtan, the Tomorrow and the Reynolds.

Drilling was successfully completed this week.

From the recent program, the Macnaughtan line of quartz has been intersected with eight holes over 800m of strike, the shallowest depth was at 33 metres below surface. The Tomorrow was intersected six times over 600 metres, the shallowest of which was at 24 metres. The Reynolds was intersected two times over 100 metres, from as shallow as 77 metres.

"This drill program is extremely important in confirming the methodology of our exploration approach at Tandarra," Mr McDermott said.

"The drilling encountered potential quartz lode structures in close proximity to our interpretation.

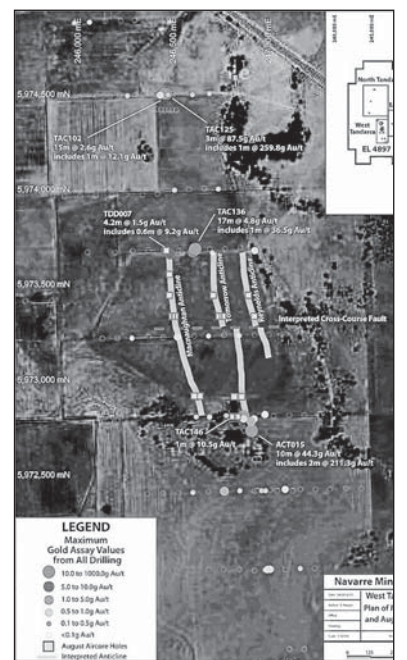

"What we have seen so far in the drilling supports our view that we are encountering typical Victorian goldfields style quartz saddle reef and associated spur structures sitting within the apexes of the three anticlinal structures.

These quartz features have not been closed off by drilling to the north and are expected to repeat at regular intervals with depth.

"The air-core samples have been dispatched for assay this week. The results are expected in October and are eagerly awaited."

Navarre raised $3.2 million in a 1-3 rights issue, underwritten by Taylor Collison Limited, which will be allocated to a $4.2 million program, including 110 line kilometres of geophysics and 50,000 metres of drilling.

A plan showing the three lines of quartz reef that has been discovered by Navarre Minerals following a successful drilling program.

If your Pit Bull Terrier is not registered by 29 September 2011, it will be seized and put down.

To register your dog, contact your local council.

For the safety of all Victorians, from 30 September 2011, all unregistered Pit Bull Terriers and Pit Bull cross breeds will be seized and put down under new Victorian law.

To identify if your dog is a restricted breed go to www.dpi.vic.gov.au/keepyourdog

Caitlan Slorach whose recipe is a hit.

Caitlan's easy Bruschetta.

Caitlan's recipe is proving a hit

STAWELL - Young Stawell chef, Caitlan Slorach, has found a real winner with her recipe for bruschetta.

Caitlan's tried-and-true recipe 'Caitlan's easy bruschetta' has been published in the latest edition of That's Life! magazine.

That's Life! recently released the fifth issue of Reader Recipes We Love - a collection of 125 fantastic recipes submitted by That's Life! readers from around the nation and Caitlan was fortunate enough to be among the 125 chosen.

As a result of this latest issue of Reader Recipes We Love - home chefs around the nation are now trying out Caitlan's signature dish in their kitchens.

Caitlan was only too happy to share some of her secrets for making the recipe a success.

"For the best flavour, make the tomato and onion mixture the night before and store in the fridge in an airtight container," Caitlan said.

- The recipe for Caitlan's Easy Bruschetta:
Serves 2 - Time 10 min
- 1½ cups mixed cherry tomatoes, chopped
  - 1 red onion, finely diced
  - 2 Turkish bread rolls, split and toasted
  - 100g Danish-style feta cheese, crumbled
- Method

1. In a small bowl, combine chopped tomatoes, onion and 2 teaspoons olive oil. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

2. Spoon topping evenly over toasted bread and top with crumbled feta and a drizzle of balsamic vinegar.

Serve with herb sprigs.

If you think there's a dangerous dog in your neighbourhood call 1300 10 10 80

